

Benefits

Our partnership with Cúram enables organizations to realize these benefits:

- Leverage the combined thought leadership and capabilities of EDS and Cúram to assist state health and human services transformation initiatives
- Define, deliver and track better outcomes through improved integration of data from eligibility and claims systems
- Gain the quality assurance that projects will be delivered with the benefits committed, the scope promised and within the agreed timeframe, while taking into account lessons learned and project changes through use of the EDS Agile RightStep Framework

UNIQUE SYNERGY GENERATES QUALITY AND EFFICIENCY

EDS, an HP company, and Cúram Software partnership offers unsurpassed solutions for health and human services transformation

Improve the quality and efficiency of critical social services delivery through the partnership between two recognized innovators and leaders in systems integration and health and human services software development. The synergies between the Cúram Business Application Suite™ and EDS systems integration expertise and healthcare solutions provide a proven road map for transformation.

World-class solutions and expertise yield tangible results

Today's health and human services agencies are faced with numerous challenges, including reduced budgets, aging technical infrastructures, and increasing pressure to improve service delivery and outcomes - while also providing quality services efficiently and cost-effectively. As the world's business ally, EDS delivers technology services that enable health and human services agencies to meet these challenges and achieve tangible results. The Cúram solution, combined with EDS' industry knowledge, broad IT services portfolio, systems integration expertise and proven global implementation experience, gives organizations world-class solutions that provide information faster at a lower cost and with reduced risk.

Gain flexibility, accuracy and efficiency

EDS has broad experience implementing large-scale transformation programs that affect millions of recipients. Our health and human services solutions offer flexibility to integrate data across multiple programs, ensure consistent application of policy, provide efficiency through workforce optimization and drive accuracy to reduce fraud/abuse.

"For more than 40 years, EDS has been providing clients in the health and human services field with innovative and cost-effective IT solutions. In partnership with a recognized innovator such as Cúram Software, we can enable government agencies to streamline operations, more efficiently and effectively provide vital services, and support their health and human services transformation agendas."
